Q2 Edvard Munch [pronounced "munk"] and Egon Schiele ["sheel-uh"] are two of the most notable artists from which early 20th century artistic movement? It's not Impressionism, but paintings in this style sought to convey an emotional experience instead of simply depicting physical reality, using distortion or exaggeration to evoke moods or ideas.	Expressionism
Q3 William Holman Hunt, John Everett Millais and Dante Gabriel Rossetti were the three founders of what influential British artistic collective in the 1840s? The name they chose for this movement expressed a desire to return to the principles of late medieval and early Renaissance art.	Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood
Q4 What modern architectural movement, heavily associated with Richard Rogers, features "inside out" design principles, where services such as ducts and lifts are located on the exterior, to maximise interior space? Notable buildings designed in this style include the Lloyd's building in London and the Pompidou Centre in Paris.	Bowellism

Irish Sporting Trophies

Q1 The Irish Sports Manager of the Year Award has been sponsored by what consumer electronics company ever since the award was established in 1982? Unusually, this award was directly instigated by the Dutch sponsor in question, instead of by a sporting body or journalists' association as would typically be the case.	Philips
Q2 What Gaelic football competition was introduced by the GAA this year as a "Tier 2" cup for weaker counties who finish in the lower half of the National League rankings? It takes its name from the ancient athletic competition established in pre-Christian Ireland and held regularly until the 12th century.	Tailteann Cup [pronounced "tahl-tin"]
Q3 What trophy is awarded to the winners of the All-Ireland Senior Ladies' Football Championship? It is named after the Offaly man who was one of the first treasurers of the Ladies' Gaelic Football Association after it was established in the 1970s.	Brendan Martin Cup
Q4 Introduced in 1989, what trophy is awarded to the winners of the Ireland vs Scotland fixture in the annual Six Nations rugby championship? This silver trophy takes its unusual name from that of a traditional Gaelic drinking vessel.	Centenary Quaich [pronounced like "quake" but with the "ch" sound from "loch"]

Name The Year

Many consider "name the year" questions to be the last refuge of a scoundrel - nevertheless, here we are. All answers must be exact!
